These two are nuts about Christmas...

Putting the magic back into street theatre.

Mr and Mrs Nutkin love everything about Christmas and are eager to forage for the right present for everyone. Their excitement is catching and their festive, fluffy, cosy squirrel charm is irresistible. The perfect guests for a jolly Christmas gathering.

A family friendly act, suitable for all ages involving two human sized red squirrels. They walk around and interact with people, scurry about in people's bags, dance if there's music and charm the crowd with their cute, huggable softness. They don't talk, but are very expressive through movement. They can have amplified music (that's not hugely loud) played from their acorn bag if required.

Technical Requirements

Performance area

This act mingles with the audience and does not need a marked off area or stage.

Backstage & hospitality

Parking for one car and one changing room is required, including drinking water and toilet facilities. The changing room should be warm and secure with enough room for the 2 performers to get changed and warm-up prior to the show(s).

If overnight stays are necessary, two single or one twin room will be required, ideally in a hotel/B&B providing parking and breakfast.

Bad weather

The show cannot be performed in rain or snow. However, The Nutkin's have not yet been unable to perform due to bad weather, and are more than happy to negotiate show times/venues to accommodate.

Flying the show and insurance

The show requires two large hold cases {weights and dimensions upon request.}

All performers have public liability insurance of £10m through Equity and First Act.

Minder

The Nutkins manage perfectly fine by themselves but due to poor visibility, they need a changing room within a stones throw of the performance area. If its further, large crowds are expected, or it will be dark, then an assertive, confident minder may well be necessary to be their voice, bodyguard, time keeper and guide. (Briefing from Nutkins on the day.) If in the instance of needing one and you cannot provide, we will happily do so for an extra fee. Please get in touch to discuss.
